Do I Have to Have The Vaccine?

Covid vaccines are not compulsory, but everyone is being urged to get two doses to protect themselves, their family, friends and wider society.

Without a jab you may not be able to do certain jobs, and some countries only allow fully vaccinated travellers to enter.

People with both jabs don't have to self-isolate on return to the UK from amber list countries, with the exception of France.

The government has also said clubbers and people attending some other venues in England will have to be fully vaccinated by the end of September.

Self-isolating can be tough especially when you don't have friends or family to call on but we're here to help. Our Community Response Unit can help with shopping, fetching prescriptions, transport to vaccination centres & more. Get in touch here.
